Naish Park 2011 - Kite only

Design aim: Riders looking for an easy, no-frills performance.

As an "all-inclusive package", the Park is a focussed on performance kite.

The design of the Part with its three struts is stable and responsive. This configuration, in combination with its distinctive profile and the full outline, gives the Park the constant tension of a c-kite and the power and control of a swept kite.

The curved front tube positions the wing tips behind the center of the kite which improves the relaunch and maximizes the depower.

The "one-for-all" characteristics of the Park opens the rider a wide range of application. It is the perfect tool no matter if you concentrate on the handle pass rotation, rip the wave lips or simple want to extend the free ride time at the water.

The Park is compatible to the LWR system (light wind relaunch).
